HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS
AND
Hoofland's German Tonic.
The Great Remedies for all Diseases of the LIVER, STOMACH, OR DIGESTIVE ORGANS.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS
Is composed of the pure juices (or, as they are medicinally termed, Extracts,) of Roots, Herbs, and Barks, making a preparation highly concentrated, and entirely free from alcoholic admixture of any kind.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC,
Is a combination of all the ingredients of the Bitters, with the purest quality of Santa Cruz Rum, Orange, &c., making one of the most pleasant and agreeable remedies ever offered to the public.
Those preferring a Medicine free from Alcoholic admixture, will use
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.
Those who have no objection to the combination of the bitters, as stated, will use
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC.
They are both equally good, and contain the same medicinal virtues, the choice between the two being a mere matter of taste, the Tonic being the most palatable.
The stomach, from a variety of causes, such as Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Nervous Debility, etc., is very apt to have its functions deranged. The Liver, sympathizing as closely as it does with the stomach, then becomes affected, the result of which is that the patient suffers from several or more of the following diseases:
Constipation, Flatulence, Inward Piles, Fullness of Blood to the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Heartburn, Disgust for Food, Fulness or Weight in the Stomach, Sour Eructations, Sinking or Fluttering at the Pit of the Stomach, Swimming of the Head, Hurried or Difficult Breathing, Fluttering at the Heart, Choking or Suffocating Sensations when in a lying posture, Dimness of Vision, Dots or Webs before the Sight, Dull Pain in the Head, Deficiency of Perspiration, Yellowness of the Skin and Eyes, Pain in the Side, Back, Chest, Limbs, etc., Sudden Flushes of Heat, Burning in the Flesh, Constant Imaginings of Evil, and Great Depression of Spirits.
The sufferer from these diseases should exercise the greatest caution in the selection of a remedy for his case, purchasing only that which is sanctioned from his investigations and inquiries possesses true merit, is skillfully compounded is free from injurious ingredients, and has established for itself a reputation for the cure of these diseases. In this connection we would submit those well known remedies—
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS
AND
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC,
Prepared by Dr. C. M. JACKSON, PHILADELPHIA, Pa.
Twenty-two years since they were first introduced into this country from Germany, during which time they have undoubtedly performed more cures, and benefited suffering humanity to a greater extent, than any other remedies known to the public.
These remedies will effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Chronic or Nervous Debility, Chronic Diarrhœa, Diseases of the Kidneys, and all Diseases arising from a disordered Liver, Stomach, or Intestines.
DEBILITY,
Resulting from any Cause whatever; PROSTRATION OF THE SYSTEM, induced by Severe Labor, Hardships, Exposure, Fevers, &c.
There is no medicine extant equal to these remedies in such cases. A tone and vigor is imparted to the whole system, the appetite is strengthened, food is enjoyed, the stomach digests promptly, the blood is purified, the complexion becomes sound and healthy, the yellow tinge is eradicated from the eyes, a bloom is given to the cheeks, and the weak and nervous invalid becomes a strong and healthy being.
PERSONS ADVANCED IN LIFE,
And feeling the hand of time weighing heavily upon them, with all its attendant ills, will find in the use of this BITTERS, or the TONIC, an elixir that will instil new life into their veins, restore in a measure the energy and ardor of more youthful days, build up their shrunken forms, and give health and happiness to their remaining years.
NOTICE.
It is a well established fact; that fully one half of the female portion of our population are seldom in the enjoyment of good health, or, to use their own expression, never feel well. They are languid, devoid of all energy, extremely nervous, and have no appetite.
To this class of persons the BITTERS, or the TONIC, is especially recommended.
WEAK AND DELICATE CHILDREN,
Are made strong by the use of either of these remedies. They will cure every case of MARASMUS, without fail.
Thousands of certificates have accumulated in the hands of the proprietor, but space will allow of the publication of but a few. Those, it will be observed, are men of note and of such standing that they must be believed.
TESTIMONIALS.
HON. GEORGE W. WOODWARD,
Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pa., writes:
Philadelphia, March 18, 1867.
"I find 'Hoofland's German Bitters' is a good tonic, useful in diseases of the digestive organs, and of great benefit in cases of debility, and want of nervous action in the system.
Yours, truly, GEO. W. WOODWARD."
HON. JAMES THOMPSON,
Judge of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.
Philadelphia, April 28, 1866.
"I consider 'Hoofland's German Bitters' a valuable medicine in case of attacks of Indigestion or Dyspepsia. I can certify this from my experience of it. Yours, with respect, JAMES THOMPSON."
FROM REV. JOSEPH H. KENNARD, D. D.,
Pastor of the Tenth Baptist Church, Philadelphia.
Dr. Jackson—Dear Sir: I have been frequently requested to connect my name with recommendations of different kinds of medicines, but regarding the practice as out of my appropriate sphere, I have in all cases declined; but with a clear conscience and particularly in the usefulness of Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, I depart for once from my usual course, to express my full conviction that, for general debility of the system, and especially for Liver Complaint, it is a safe and valuable preparation. In some cases it may fail; but usually, I doubt not, it will be very beneficial to those who suffer from the above causes.
Yours, very respectfully, J. H. KENNARD, Eighth, below Coates St.
FROM REV. E. D. FENDALL.
Assistant Editor Christian Chronicle, Philadelphia.
I have derived decided benefit from the use of Hoofland's German Bitters, and feel it my privilege to recommend them as a most valuable tonic, to all who are suffering from general debility or from diseases arising from derangement of the liver.
Yours truly, E. D. FENDALL.

STAND LIKE AN ANVIL.

"Stand like an anvil!" when the stroke
Of stalwart men falls fierce and fast;
Storms but more deeply root the oak,
Whose brawny arms embrace the blast.

"Stand like the anvil!" when the sparks
Fly far and wide, a fiery shower;
Virtue and truth must still be marks
Where malice proves its want of power.

"Stand like an anvil!" when the bar
Lies red and glowing on its breast;
Duty shall be life's leading star,
And conscious innocence its rest.

"Stand like an anvil!" when the sound
Of ponderous hammers pains the ear;
Thine but the still and stern rebound
Of the great heart that cannot fear.

"Stand like an anvil!" Noise and heat
Are born of earth and die with time;
The soul, like God, its source and seat,
Is solemn, still, serene, sublime.

REMARKS
OF THE
HON. SAMUEL T. BROWN,
Member of the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania, from Huntingdon County, on the Fifteenth Amendment to the National Constitution, delivered Tuesday Evening, March 23d, 1869.

Mr. Speaker, I come before you tonight with no carefully prepared manuscript. I have noted down a few topics, but I am not prepared with any flowery exordium or eloquent peroration. I presume, sir, it is not the expectation of any one who has spoken or will speak upon this resolution, that he will be able to change a single vote I do not design to enter into a discussion of the merits of this proposition. I have considered the question only with the view to determine for myself how I should act and to place upon record the reasons which impel me to support this measure, leaving others to judge of the sufficiency of these reasons. In doing this, I shall not indulge in any harsh epithets toward any gentleman on this floor, or the party which he represents. I believe it is customary and proper among gentlemen, when discussing any measure, to speak of other gentlemen and their parties by the names which they call themselves. I believe this rule has not been departed from by any gentleman on this side of the House; and speaking of gentlemen, perhaps it has not been departed from on the other side; for you know, sir, it is possible, especially in strong Democratic districts in the northern part of Pennsylvania, for individuals to be elected to the Legislature who are only politicians, or editors, or such like, and not gentlemen; so that this rule, which I have laid down, has perhaps not been infringed by either side of the House. I am sure, if I say what I intend to, I shall not infringe it. It might, perhaps, be a work of charity for me to gather up what was left of the distinguished gentleman from Clarion [Mr. Brown], after my friend from Lancaster [Mr. Gatchell] got through with him. I am afraid, however, it would be "Love's labor lost." I shall pass to the consideration of weightier subjects.

I do not want it understood that I take any particular exception to the term "Radical." If by "Radical" is meant an out-and-out, thorough Republican, I am one of that kind. I believe that is the true signification of the word—something that goes down to the roots. That is just what I claim to be. I do not know that I object to what has been said here about "scalawags" and "carpet-baggers." I do not reckon that applies to me—perhaps to no gentleman on this floor. I reckon it was intended to apply to those enterprising gentlemen who go down South to try to beat something into the heads of the natives—black and white. Therefore, it is very objectionable in some quarters, somewhat I suppose for the same reason that the Sandwich Islanders boil missionaries, and roast them before slow fires. They do not know anything, and what is more, they do not want to know anything. That is the reason there is such a prejudice against these "carpet baggers." I guess they are about as intelligent and enterprising a class of people as they find when they get there, and I commend them for their enterprise. I went down into Virginia and spent a month or so last summer, and I concluded that I had not quite enough of the missionary spirit to take up my lodgings there.

Now, I want to be candid in the discussion of this proposition. There is, no doubt, some diversity of opinion in the party to which I belong, with regard to negro suffrage; and I confess that I have no particular hankering for it myself. I have no particular desire to see the Constitution of Pennsylvania changed, annulled or abrogated, so as to allow negroes to vote.—But the question is before us, and it must be met. We intend to meet it like men, in the spirit of justice.

The arguments against the measure come down, after all, to two points.—The first is, the inferiority of the negro, his ignorance, his black skin, his long heels, his thick lips, his flat nose, and all that. That argument is based upon prejudice—not that I contend that he is equal to the Caucasian, or of any gentleman on this floor. I do not contend that as a class or race, he has an equal degree of intelligence.—The second point is that the Republican platform and the Republican speeches during the last campaign committed the party against negro suffrage.

Now, with regard to the prejudice against the negro, his incapability, his inferiority and all that, I will not attempt to remove that prejudice. Why, sir, this is the only distinctive doctrine left to the Democratic party, and I could not be cruel enough to take that away and leave them to lament with the idolatrous priest, when a band of "carpet-baggers and scalawags" came along and stole his pewter deities, "Ye have taken our gods, and now what more have we left?" I could not be cruel enough to take away this prejudice—this foundation and corner-stone of the Democratic party. For eight long years they staked their all upon it one election after another. They knew that there was an antipathy—if you please to call it such for the sake of argument—a well-founded antipathy or repugnance, between the races; and upon that prejudice they risked their hopes of success. They risked the chances of election upon it. They were willing to risk the fate of this country when it was trembling in the balance—to risk all upon that prejudice. They knew that that prejudice existed, and they thought there were a sufficient number of voters to carry the elections on it. Year after year they staked all and lost, as thank God, they should lose; and I hope every party that stakes its fortunes upon passion and prejudice will lose until the end of time.

It would not be policy for me, then, to undertake to remove that prejudice upon which they have staked all and lost all, and upon which they will lose all so long as they cling to it with the tenacity they have manifested since the year 1860 down to this present moment—down to this hour, and here upon this floor. I admit that virtue and intelligence are the pillars of republican government, but I deny that the color of the skin furnishes any true criterion either for the one or the other. That is all I have to say upon that point. Give the darkey a chance, and some incentive to improvement, then, if he falls behind in the race, it is his fault, not ours. I leave the gentlemen then to follow out the bent of their own inclinations to the fullest extent, to curse the darkey, to call him ignorant, thick-lipped and all that.

Now, this brings us to the second point they make against us, the charge that we, as a party, have committed ourselves against negro suffrage. They charge us with inconsistency, and say that last fall we deluded the people—that we told the people that negro suffrage was not at issue in Pennsylvania. Now, suppose we did, and I am not going to deny it; I would just like to inquire how many Democrats believed our report? How many of them were converted from the error of their ways, and voted the republican ticket on that ground or on any ground? If the people believed us, the people must have disbelieved them; because they insisted most strenuously that this question was at issue. Every year for the last eight years, they have said that this was the issue—that negro suffrage was just what the Republicans were after. They ought not to complain if the people believed us, and did not believe them. I suppose it was because they had done so much heavy lying during the last few years that the people considered it was another "fish-story" and a humbug. I suppose if they believed us, it was because we had established a reputation for truth and veracity. That is the construction I put upon it. I am not in any way hide-bound upon this matter; I am willing to let other gentlemen put any construction upon it that suits their own fancy. I do not think the Democrats lost many votes on this question. It occurs to me that this is a matter for us to settle among ourselves; it is a kind of family difference. If we do not keep our pledges, we will settle it with our constituents, not with our Democratic brethren. I know that we were told before the last election that if we carried the election and General Grant, that military chieftain, went into power, the sun of liberty would set, that the days of the Republic were numbered, that the star of liberty was to go out forever. We were told the other evening by the gentleman from Cumberland [Mr. Cornman,] with many a toss of his lofty, but level head, that if we dared to do this thing, then, so sure as there was a God in Heaven—I forget the rest, but something terrible was to happen. But we still survive. It was to be the end of the party, and perhaps the end of the nation; very well, we were told that every campaign since 1861, and we did not believe it. We just saw proper to take the risk. We went on last fall, notwithstanding the terrible things that were to happen; and here we are to day, as a nation and as a party, without any visible mark of God's displeasure resting upon us! We intend to persevere; when we put our hand to the plow, we do not intend to look back; we intend to go right forward. We will pass this amendment in Pennsylvania. Perhaps we shall not get the requisite number of States in time for the next election, but that is a secondary consideration—that is only a matter of time; but the thing will come. We are not looking to the consequences, so far as votes are concerned; we intend to adopt this measure, because we believe it to be right; it is not to please the gentlemen on the other side, or to give them a reason for our votes, that I now declare the motives which influence me. I speak now for the benefit of those of my own party (and admit there may be such) who have some doubts about the propriety of this measure. To them I would say, the Constitution of the United States, which was framed in the year 1787, and soon afterwards ratified by Pennsylvania, provided for amendments. It provided that when an amendment was proposed by a two-thirds vote of Congress, and then ratified by the Legislatures of three fourths of the States, such amendments should become a part of the Constitution itself. Now, this has been done in a constitutional way; because we must proceed in a strictly constitutional manner if we expect to meet the approbation of our friends on the other side. That has all been done. We have not got three-fourths of the States yet, but we expect to get them in time. The amendment has been proposed and adopted by Congress, and it is here; but they say we have no right to vote upon it. Why, the question, according to that sacred instrument, was not to be submitted to a direct vote of the people, but to the Legislatures of the States, yet they say we ought to refer it to a vote of the people. They would have us to dodge it. We intend to meet this question. I have not been out of my seat fifteen minutes while this House has been in session, and I have voted upon every question before the House, except, perhaps, when I would not hear the question, or something of that kind. I intend to vote upon this question when my name is called. This Legislature expects to act upon it, and not to dodge it, or to refer it back to the people.

But they tell us we were not elected with a view to action upon this question. Perhaps not, and perhaps we were. In the sense contemplated by the Constitution, I think we were.—Now, to illustrate. We shall act during this session on perhaps three thousand bills and resolutions—heaven only knows, it may be ten thousand before we get through, if they come pouring in as they have been. Now, how many of these bills and resolutions entered into the calculations of our constituents when they voted for us? Perhaps not a single one. What is the difference between this resolution and others? I contend, sir, that if there is a difference, it is in favor of this proposition; because it is provided for in the Constitution of the United States. It would be an insult to the intelligence even of a Democrat to suppose he did not know that his representative here might be called upon, under the provisions of that Constitution, which every Democrat is supposed to have by heart, to vote upon any amendment which might be proposed by Congress. I say we were elected with this view.

It is to be presumed that the people know what the Constitution of their country contains. It is an axiom that every man is presumed to know the laws, and no Democrat could plead guilty if you tell him he did not understand the Constitution of the United States. They swear by the Constitution—they prate about the Constitution day and night—now when we propose to act upon this amendment, according to the provisions of that sacred instrument, they tell us we have no right to do so—that we ought to shirk the responsibility, and throw it back upon the people. We are not depriving the people of an expression on this momentous question; we are the representatives of the people, and elected in view of this contingency. It is a contingency that is ever present, and ever staring the people of this Commonwealth in the face. It cannot be said that the people could not tell what amendment was to be offered; the same argument would apply to every amendment; there is no restriction upon the kind of amendments to be offered—the only safeguard is, that it must have a two-thirds vote in Congress and three-fourths of the State Legislature. I think that is safeguard enough; whether it is or not, it is all the Constitution provides. I think I have successfully refuted that we do not represent, and have no right to represent, the people on this question. Suppose, for instance, that I should get tired of the plain name of Brown, and introduce a bill to change it to Smith, or some other romantic cognomen, and the gentleman from Philadelphia, [Mr. Rogers,] who has made such an eloquent oration, should rise and say, "I object to the consideration of that bill; we were not elected to act upon this question, and I move, therefore, that it be referred back to the people."—Now, this House might not be able to see the point, and might proceed to act upon the bill; but, nevertheless, Mr. Speaker, the point would be just as well taken, and there would be just as much point in it as in any other point made by the gentleman in his hour's oration.

Now, there are two modes by which negro suffrage might be introduced into Pennsylvania. One would be by striking out the word "white" from the State constitution; that is not proposed here and is not now before us for discussion. If that was proposed I might perhaps arrive at a different conclusion; I might not be able to see any necessity for making that change. The other mode of introducing negro suffrage is by amending the Constitution of the United States in the manner now proposed; and here is where they think they have got us. They say that the Chicago platform declared that this question was to be left to the people of the loyal States. I have that plank in our platform here; where do you think I find it? Why, right in the middle of a Democratic speech in the Patriot and Union. It is in very bad company, but a man has to get used to bad company when he comes to the Legislature. But as it is before me, I will read it:

"The guaranty by the Congress of equal suffrage to all loyal men at the South was demanded by every consideration of public safety, of gratitude and of justice, and must be maintained; while the question of suffrage in all the loyal States properly belongs to the people of those States."

Now, they say we are bound by that—that it means that the party is opposed to negro suffrage. Now, let us see for one moment how that is. You will remember that the reconstruction measures had been before Congress some before this Chicago convention met; they had adopted some of the reconstruction measures; they had demanded of the people of the South a guarantee that they should not deprive the loyal black man of the right to vote. Democrats all over the North said that that was tyrannical, oppressive and unconstitutional; I suppose they added, revolutionary and void. This convention, in adopting this platform, as this was a question which agitated the public mind, just endorsed what Congress had done. Why did they do that? Because the Democrats had said, that "if negro suffrage is right at the South, it is right at the North, and why don't you black Republicans give them suffrage up here?" That convention just endorsed what Congress had done to let the loyal men vote; they did not exclude disloyal men; they did not say that the blacks should vote; but they said they should not discriminate against loyal men, even if they were black. The convention answered the Democrats by saying that the question of suffrage properly belonged to the people of the loyal States. Now, I would like to see how we are about to infringe that principle—how we are violating that plank of our platform? I say that we are simply carrying out the system of reconstruction measures, begun soon after the war ended. Congress had undertaken to demand this from the people of the South. Will any sane man suppose that by adopting that plank in the Republican platform, we pledged ourselves not to ratify any amendment to the Constitution of the United States? Such a thing was never thought of. Any man who understands the political history of his country, and who will take up the platform itself, will see that it never could be wrested to any such meaning. The fact is, sir, that during the whole war we were learning something; we were coming, step by step, to the grand crowning act of freeing the blacks; and now we are about to take another. At the beginning of the Revolutionary war, our forefathers did not contemplate a separation from the mother country; they did not intend to throw off the yoke of Great Britain; they propose to themselves simply a redress of grievances; but they were led on by Divine Providence, as I believe, to see that they could accomplish what they wished only by the absolute independence of the colonies. At the beginning of the war of the rebellion, we did not propose, either as a nation or as a party, to abolish slavery. Both parties repudiated that as the object of the war. I believe that no party sincerely set out with that intention; but we were hedged in and led on, step by step, until we were brought to it. We were led to see that we could only overthrow this rebellion by taking away its foundation and corner-stone. So, Mr. Speaker, during the four years which have succeeded the overthrow of this rebellion, we have been seeking in vain for some solution of the great question of reconstruction, and we have been laboring in vain; reconstruction is not yet an accomplished fact. We have been led on, I say, as I believe by Divine Providence, to this last great crowning act, even the enfranchisement of a race.

I cannot see why our Democratic friends should complain; they told us all along that if negro suffrage was good at the South it was good at the North, and they thought they were pretty smart when they told us that. They thought they were taunting us pretty considerably—that it was something to which we could not find a satisfactory answer. Perhaps they were right; but we are just going to gratify them and bestow equal rights on all parties. I think results have shown that negro suffrage was the only thing that could ever accomplish reconstruction—that could ever secure the fruits of the war; and now we are going to give negroes equal rights with their Southern brethren. We are going to give our Democratic brethren the right to march up, side by side and arm in arm, if they are so disposed, with those loyal gentlemen down South, and cast their votes into the same ballot-box. We do not oblige them to go arm in arm or side by side. They may take their own time, or stay at home, if they are sulky about it.

We were told, before the 4th of March, that General Grant was a Democrat, and that he would administer this government on Democratic principles—that a man who had ever been a Democrat could never forget his first love. I suppose he will; but the Democracy of General Grant is just the kind of Democracy I admire—it is the Democracy of Thomas Jefferson, and that is the Republicanism of to-day. If they think that General Grant is going to be such a Democrat as some of them, I know, fondly hoped—why his little speech from the east portico of the capitol, on the 4th day of March, must have been like a cold bath to the gentlemen. I know that my friend from Northumberland [Mr. Kase] had a kind of idea that a political millennium was about to dawn; he had high hopes—I think he had an idea that in the political millennium about to dawn upon this land, Northumberland county might perhaps furnish a Governor for this great Commonwealth. I would like to know how he feels on this subject now. That little speech on the 4th of March was a very good speech—one of which the Republican party of this nation has a right to be proud. It was the keynote which assured us we were not going to have Andy Johnson over again—that we were to be delivered from the years of misrule which had characterized the last administration. Yea, it was a true saying that so long as one class of citizens were deprived of privileges enjoyed by others, it would be a disturbing element in the body politic. It was a true saying that the sooner this distinction was abolished the better. When he closed the argument by saying, "I entertain the hope and express the desire that this amendment may be ratified," he made the soundest argument in favor of its expediency and its policy that has been made on the subject. Of Roderick Dhu, the old Scottish chief, it was said, "one blast of his bugle horn t'were worth ten thousand men," and so is it of this—it assures the party that he is right at heart—it assures the nation that it is safe.

We have been told that remonstrances have been pouring in against the ratification of this amendment, and that not a solitary petition in favor of it has found its way here. Now I have received one remonstrance, and I have endorsed it in this way: "The remonstrance of nineteen citizens, mostly Democrats, of Huntingdon county, against ratifying the suffrage amendment." I acknowledge, and freely confess, sir, that I have another, signed by about the same number of persons; and that about three or four on each of these remonstrances are Republicans. The district has, I think, about twelve thousand voters; these are not, therefore, very heavy remonstrances. If the people at home can stand it, I can stand it. I was told by one individual in my county, a Republican of the highest respectability, who is worth, perhaps, one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, that if I voted for this amendment, he would never vote for me as long as I lived; that was very appalling—nevertheless, I intend to vote for it. I just considered that if this gentleman does not vote for me, I know at least one old lame darkey in Huntingdon who will take his place; and I know some praying negroes, who prayed for the success of the Union army, and who shouted "Hallelujah" when the Union armies gained a victory; they will supply the places of the other half-dozen, whose names are on these papers, so that I am not going to be alarmed at these heavy remonstrances. I have not concluded what I will do with these remonstrances; they have the names of a few very respectable Republicans, and out of respect for them I will keep them until I confer with them at home. I have respect for my friends and constituents at home, and before I present these remonstrances, I want to see whether they were cajoled into signing them, before I place them on the Record; I acknowledge, however, the receipt of them in this public way; I hope that will suffice.

I have occupied a little more time than I intended; I have only to say, sir, that we expect to vote for this amendment, not because we hope to gain anything by it; I have all along candidly admitted that there is some diversity of opinion in the Republican party on this question. We may, perhaps, be charged with selfishness in abolishing slavery; I do not know that we can claim any credit for it as a party; I claim none whatever; the party was opposed to it; we abolished slavery because we were brought to it step by step; we adopted the measure at last only as a military necessity. But this question is free from any selfish considerations. I do not think we shall gain a single vote by it in Pennsylvania. I believe we shall lose as many votes as we shall gain. I put it upon the ground of eternal justice and right; and the party that does this will triumph in the end. It is because the Democratic party has laid this consideration aside, and has addressed itself to the basest prejudices and passions of the people, that they have failed time after time. Mr. Speaker, we must do justice, and we will do justice, though the heavens fall.

A BEAUTIFUL CUSTOM.—In the mountains of Tyrol, it is the custom of the women and children to come out when it is bed-time and sing their national songs until their husbands, fathers, and brothers answer them from the hill, or on their return home. On the shores of the Adriatic such a custom prevails. There the wives of the fishermen come down about sunset and sing a melody. After singing the first stanza, they listen awhile for the answering strain from off the water, and continue to sing and listen till the well-known voices come borne on the tide, telling that the loved ones are almost home. How sweet to the weary fisherman, as the shadows gather around him, must be the songs of the loved ones at home, who sing to cheer him, and how they strengthen and tighten the bonds that bind together these humble dwellers by the sea. Truly it is among the lowly in this world that we find some of the most beautiful customs in practice.

☞ The following beautifully appropriate and touching lines are said to have been written by Lord Byron, on the fly-leaf of his bible:

"Within this awful volume lies
The mystery of mysteries.
Oh! happiest they of human race,
To whom our God has given grace,
To hear, to read, to fear, to pray,
To lift the latch and force the way;
But better had they ne'er been born,
Who read to doubt or read to scorn.

The Globe.

HUNTINGDON, PA.

Wednesday morning, April 14, 1869.

WM. LEWIS, HUGH LINDSAY, } EDITORS.

The "Globe" has the largest number of readers of any other paper published in the county. Advertisers should remember this.

To Our Friends and Patrons.

Until we give notice to the contrary, we will issue to all paying us money on subscription to Globe, advertising, job work and old store bills, change checks for presents in our Enterprise. Now is the time to subscribe, advertise, have your bills, etc., printed, and for all indebted to us to pay up.

☞ Preparations have been made by Congress for simplifying the taking of the ninth census.

☞ Both Houses of Congress adjourned on Saturday last. The President immediately called an executive session of the Senate.

☞ It is thought the Legislature will adjourn on Friday. All the business of importance has been disposed of, except the appropriation bill.

☞ The Legislature has at last passed a registry law. We have not yet examined it, but hope it is such an one as will meet the purposes for which it is intended.

☞ We call attention to the able speech of Hon. S. T. Brown, delivered in the House of Representatives at Harrisburg, on the fifteenth amendment.

☞ Information has been received by the Government, from New Orleans, that Gen. Steadman has organized an expedition, which is to sail for Cuba to join the insurrectionary army.

☞ As an evidence of the rapidity with which Legislation can be done, it is only necessary to refer to the New York Legislature, which recently passed three railroad bills in twenty minutes. Whew!

☞ The Senate, in Executive session, on the 3d inst., finally reached a vote on the nomination of Gen. Longstreet, to be Surveyor of the Port of New Orleans. The vote stood 25 to 10, nine hours having been consumed in debate on his nomination.

☞ President Grant has informed Reverdy Johnson, our minister to England, that his resignation will be accepted. Grant didn't like to tell him so in as many words, so he gave him one of Paddy's hints, by telling him if he didn't resign he would be removed.

☞ Just before adjourning Congress passed an act authorizing the President to call elections in the unreconstructed States of Virginia Mississippi and Texas. A clause was inserted requiring those States to recognize the fifteenth amendment to the Constitution.

☞ King Ferdinand, of Portugal, has been offered the crown of Spain, but positively declines to accept the proffered honor, and so poor Spain still goes begging around for a ruler. Would not some of the aristocratic nabobs of the late "Confederate States of America," consent to govern that unhappy country?

☞ A jocular friend at our elbow, says that "Democratic gains" in Connecticut remind him of the country editor's account of how he thrashed a political adversary: "We held him down to the floor by inserting our nose firmly between his teeth, and twisting our hair in one of his fists, etc., etc."

☞ The Hon. Isaac B. Gara, Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth, has been appointed postmaster at Erie. This is highly complimentary to Mr. Gara, as he was not an applicant for the position. He is a fine, clever, sociable gentleman, and has hosts of friends wherever known. We heartily congratulate him upon his good fortune.

☞ The Hon. Leonard Myers, Republican, was on Friday last declared entitled to the seat in the National House of Representatives from the Third Pennsylvania district, and Mr. John Moffet, Democrat, was accordingly ousted and Mr. Myers sworn in. The Covode and Foster contested case was continued until the December session.

☞ The Harrisburg Patriot is after McMiller, Democratic member of the House from Montgomery county, with a red-hot poker. The Patriot alleges that said McMiller loves Peter Herdic's money, and was "bought with a price," to give a negative vote in the Judiciary Committee to defeat an affirmative report of the bill to repeal the act destroying Judge Gamble's (Ninth) Judicial district.

☞ Rhode Island follows Connecticut! In the election a year ago her Republican majority was 4,309. In 1867 it was 4,194. Now, in spite of the general apathy of the year following a Presidential election, and with a vote only about one-half as heavy as last Fall, we have carried the State by about 4000. Well done, Little Rhody! And now let us all keep silence while the Democrats reckon up their gains, and point to the great reaction against Grant's Administration!

Twitchell and Eaton.

On Thursday last, within the walls of Moyamensing prison, in the city of Philadelphia, "the gallows was called upon to vindicate outraged law and repeat its impressive lessons to society. George S. Twitchell, Jr., and Gerald Eaton were tried for murder, and found guilty by a jury of their countrymen. The former slew a helpless woman, secretly, in her own house. The latter killed a fellow-citizen upon the public streets of the city. Twitchell quaked before his doom, and added murder of self to that of his mother-in-law. He preferred cowardice and the ignominy of suicide to ignominy of the scaffold. Eaton met the fate the law provided for him. Which will fare best before the Judgment Seat?" Eaton died asserting that "he never fired a shot on that fatal night." Twitchell robbed the gallows of its victim the night before, by taking prussic acid, which some benevolent friend kindly provided him with. He broke down under the terrible end that awaited, him and thus added the suicide to the murderer. We are told that Eaton met his fate like a man. Efforts were made to resuscitate him, but the gallows had done its work thoroughly, and the science, genius and skill of man were ineffectual.

Connecticut Election.

The result of the election in Connecticut last week, is a greater triumph than the Republicans had any reason to hope for. We elected the Governor and three out of the four Congressmen, a clear gain of two. The Republicans have increased their majority in the State Senate, but have lost in the House, from local and personal influences. The House is, however, Republican by a majority of 15 to 20. The Governor, Marshall Jewell, is elected by 811 majority, and the majorities for Congress are as follows: I. Strong (Rep.) over Dixon, 764; II. Kellogg (Rep.) over Babcock, 323; III. Starkweather (Rep.) over Converse, 2,254; IV. Barnum (Dem.) over Beardsley, 700.

☞ Last week both branches of the Legislature rushed through with lightning speed, and sent to the Governor for his signature, a bill giving that official the power to commute the death penalty to that of imprisonment for life. This bill was intended to reach Eaton's case, as a great pressure was being brought to bear on the Governor, to save the life of that criminal. The Governor, however, was in no haste to take advantage of it and up to this time has not signed the bill. It is now in the hands of Attorney General Brewster, who is understood to hold that there are grave legal objections as to the policy of making it a law. Since writing the above the Governor has very properly vetoed the bill.

☞ Mr. Charles M. Wilder, a colored man, has been appointed and confirmed postmaster at Columbia, S. C. He was a slave until after the breaking out of the war. Since then he has been Deputy United States Marshal and member of the Legislature. He is represented as a tall, well-made, good-looking mulatto, of fair education and good business qualifications. His Post Office is worth $3,200 per annum.

POSTAGE STAMPS OF THE NEW DESIGNS.—Information has been received by the Postmaster here from the Finance Office of the Department in Washington, that at an early day, in the regular course of business, the Department will issue to postmasters postage stamps of new designs.

The description of the new stamps is as follows:

Six cents.—Head of Washington, three quarter face looking to the right. Color: Imperial Ultramarine, (Blue.)

Ten cents.—Shield, on which is resting an eagle with outspread wings; eagle looking to left. The whole design surmounted by 13 stars arranged in a semi-circle. Color: Orange.

Twelve cents.—Ocean steamship, surrounded by ornamental scroll work. Color: Milori Green.

Fifteen cents.—Landing of Columbus, ornamental and scroll work at top and bottom. Colors: picture Prussian Blue; scroll and ornamental work Pale India Red.

Thirty cents.—Eagle, facing to the left with outspread wings, resting on shield, with flags grouped on either side. Thirteen stars, arranged in semi-circle, at top of design. Colors: Eagle and Shield, Carmine; Flags, Blue.

Ninety cents.—Head of Lincoln, in an oval, three quarter face looking to right, surrounded by ornamental and scroll work. Colors; portrait in Black; surrounding ornamental and scroll work, Carmine.

The Stockbride Indians in Wisconsin are rapidly disappearing. This tribe once numbered 10,000 warriors. They immigrated from Massachusetts to New York in 1789, to Ohio in 1809, and to Wisconsin in 1821. They are suffering for food, and number but 300 men, women and children.

Gambling has been legalized in New Orleans. To prevent it has been found impossible, and the authorities prefer to receive a revenue for an evil which they cannot put down, rather than let it go unlicensed. What the effect will be time will show. Perhaps New Orleans is destined to be the Baden-Baden or the Monaco of America.

The worship of stone and wooden idols in China is quite expensive. Beside the actual expense of making them, which places a good private assortment of gods out of the reach of the poor men, large sums of money are spent to appease them, under various circumstances. The worship of ancestors is comparatively cheap, costing an economical family only about $1,50 a year.

The salaries of the different monarchs of Europe are given as follows by a German statistician:

Alexander II	$8,250,000	or	$25,000 a day.

The Providence Press says the ex-Queen of the English gipsies, who arrived in this country recently, is to organize the 12,000 gipsies who have come here at different times. They will be located on lands they have purchased. The gipsy population, it says, though poor to look at, is rich in fact, and we shall soon hear of a society more honorably celebrated than that of the Mormons, governed by their own laws, and ruled over by a Queen.

Mrs. Dolly Chandler and 194 other women have sent a remonstrance to the Massachusetts Legislature against woman suffrage. They claim that it would diminish the purity, the dignity, and the moral influence of women, and bring into the family circle a dangerous element of discord, without securing additional strength, efficiency, or wisdom to the Government of the nation, and ask to be let alone in the condition allotted to woman by nature, by custom, and by religion.

GREAT ROBBERY.—Undoubtedly the heaviest, boldest and most unparalleled robbery that ever took place in Philadelphia, and which perhaps, has had no equal in the country since the day of Buchanan, was perpetrated sometime between six o'clock on Sunday morning and four o'clock in the afternoon. Between the hours mentioned, the building occupied by the Beneficial Saving Fund Society of Philadelphia, situated at the S. W. corner of Twelfth and Chestnut streets, was entered by robbers, and completely stripped of everything valuable in the shape of money, bonds, &c., that the institution had on hand. A rough estimate places the value of money, bonds, &c., carried off by the burglars, at $1,300,000, of which about $400,000 were in coupon bonds, which are not registered, and which can of course be easily sold for cash by the burglars.—About $800 in greenbacks were carried off, and the balance was in untransforable bonds, &c., which will be of no use to the robbers.

THE GREAT FIRE IN AFRICA.—The cable announces a fire in Africa of dimensions sufficient to warm Siberia.—Five hundred miles by one hundred and fifty have been burned in the southern part; and though not announced, it is safe to infer that grilled monkey, roast sprink-bok, gems-bok and harte beest, stewed snakes and par boiled elephants, may be found there or thereabouts in extraordinary profusion. If the incendiarism is in the region of the Basutos or Boers, it is to be hoped that both have had a fair taste of the elements—particularly the Boers. So tremendous a conflagration as this is reported to have been is almost if not altogether unprecedented. Its importance may be defined when we know more exactly where it was. The country is sparsely settled, and not much loss of life is likely to have occurred, while explorers, now stimulated afresh, will soon relate the possibilities opened by it.

THE ÆTNA STILL AHEAD.

IT has been tried and has never failed to give satisfaction to the purchaser. Farmers will find it to their advantage to call on the subscriber during the April court and examine the above machine. It will be on exhibition at the Court House in Huntingdon during the two weeks of court.

It is a combined Machine; can be changed from a Mower to a Reaper in a few moments; can be worked with a low team, it being higher geared than other machines and the draft being reduced to the lowest attainable point. Reaping and Mowing with the Ætna is no harder on the team than plowing corn and stubble. It is believed by all who have tried it that it is the machine best adapted to the wants of the farmers in this county. It has no side draft and no weight on the horses' necks.

We will also have one of the Wood Reapers and Mowers on the ground at the same time. Farmers intending to purchase machines this season will do well to examine the above machines before purchasing elsewhere. All you want is to examine the Ætna to enable you to make up your mind what machine to buy. I am the authorized agent of Messrs. Wharton & Maguire for the above machines, also for the Willoughby Gum spring Drill.

I will also have one of the famous Harpoon Hay-forks on hand, which every farmer should examine whether he needs a fork or not. Every farmer should have one. They are the best in the market. No farmer that tries one could be induced to purchase any other kind. I have the exclusive right of this county. Wharton & Maguire are my agents for the sale of the above Hay-forks. Any other person selling the above Fork in Huntingdon county will be dealt with according to law in such cases. Don't forget where to call. At Wharton & Maguire's, or at the Court House during court week.

Brief Items.

The Hollidaysburgers didn't like Nasby.

The good wives are commencing to clean house.

The borough limits of Tyrone have been enlarged.

Iodine is said to be a good cure for hydrophobia.

Remarkable—there has been a funeral in Huntingdon every Sunday in this year.

The second M. E. church of Altoona is to have a fair, to open on the 6th proximo.

Horse-thieves have been operating in Fulton county.

Where, oh, where are our local correspondents? Hope they're not off-ended.

The Bedford Gazette speaks of the graduation of 47 sections of the P. & C. railroad.

An election for a county superintendent takes place on Tuesday the 4th of May.

The daily prayer-meeting will be held this week in the M. E. Church.

Nothing will harrow up one's sole like pegs inside his boot.

Our yards should be hallowed ground, for in them now repose the ashes of the departed grate.

The latest dresses out—night-dresses.—They are only visible to night-walkers when the blinds are hoisted.

Martin Logan, employee of the Cambria Iron Works, had both legs badly mutilated the other day by a coal car.

We regret to learn that the wife of John M. Stonebraker, Esq., of Mill Creek, died on Sunday last.

The post-office at Ebensburg has been in the possession of a family by the name of Lloyd for about forty-two years.

There is a penalty of twenty-five dollars for killing any insectivorous bird, one-half of the price to be paid to the informer.

A scuffle ensued on Tuesday last between two colored men. One of them was whipped and the other was not. Nobody killed.

Col. Frank B. Stewart has been appointed postmaster at Altoona, and J. Todd Hutchison, editor of the Alleghanian, postmaster of Ebensburg.

Huntingdon has gone wild over the velocipede.—Bedford Gazette. Not exactly, but some young sports did go tippling under the wheels.

An important license suit is in progress at Mapleton. Mr. Pheasant applied for a license to sell liquor, when a remonstrance was presented. We have no particulars.

Juniata Lodge, No. 117, I. O. of O. F., of this place, will be well represented in the Odd Fellows' Parade in Philadelphia, on the 26th inst.

Which has the most readers—a book or a newspaper? Decidedly the latter. Nothing as fresh or as valuable as the newspaper, and nothing as cheap.

A fellow in Cambria county mistook a pole-cat for a mink, and was about to force his penknife through its neck, when—he had to buy a new suit, that's all.

Some exchanges say they don't like the new three-cent postage stamps. Some people do prefer a Washington bust to a locomotive. We can't say that we do.

"Off she goes," said a lady, speaking of the train as it was starting. "You have mistaken the gender, madame," said the gentleman, "this is a mail train."

Fine Watches, Jewelry, Silver ware, &c., &c. Adv. in this issue by H. Harper, 520 Arch street, Philadelphia. A reliable house. Give him a call.

Only a brick wall separates the offices of the Bedford Inquirer and Gazette. They are both given to throwing paper bullets, but we hope they will never get "out of sorts" and "pi" each other's forms.

P. S. Isenberg & Co. have moved into their elegant shop near the old toll-bridge in West Huntingdon, where they are prepared to make and repair buggies, carriages, wagons, &c., in the best style. See adv.

Spring, like Christmas, is coming to come,' if we have patience to wait. We must wait. The buds are beginning to swell and the trees are filling their trunks with sap and getting ready to leave.

This is Court week. We hope our friends will not let it pass over without giving us a call, subscribe for the Globe, pay subscriptions, give orders for job work and advertising, and in a word make the printer happy.

R. B. Brown, with an E-s-q., editor of the Clarion Democrat, and member of the present Legislature, was in town yesterday. His Harrisburg campaign appears to agree with him, corporeally considered.

Rev. James Orbison preached in the Presbyterian church of this place on Sunday morning last. He intends to return as a missionary to India as soon as his health is improved.

Traugh has the modesty to call us a 'crout barrel.' We have the consolation of knowing we're not the only one; but he has the glory of being the sole possessor of a name that implies his character. Forshtay?

Rev. Geo. Hanawalt, of Mattawana, Mifflin county, was thrown off his horse, which took fright at an owl. His foot caught in the stirrup, and he would have been dragged to death had he not pulled himself up by a long halter strap.

Township clerks, says a Harrisburg paper, are required to make out and publish a complete statement of the financial condition of their townships, within sixty days after the annual elections, or submit to a penalty of fifty dollars.

A Western contemporary complains of the lack of enterprise of the wealthy men of Cincinnati and St. Louis, and says "the great want of each city is about thirty-five first-class funerals." There are other places which could sustain such bereavements.

We are pleased to state that our young friend J. Hall Musser, who has been studying law in the office of Scott, Brown & Bailey, passed a creditable examination and has been admitted to the bar. We wish him success wherever he may go.

The Huntingdon furniture factory will soon be in operation. A number of new and beautiful dwelling houses have gone up in that vicinity since its erection—thus showing that one improvement is shortly followed by another. Keep the ball in motion.

Altoona wants to borrow $200,000 to pave her streets. There are many men in this locality who, if a like sum was asked for a town hall, water works, or some other public improvement, wouldn't think of shouldering such a debt. Hope there are none there.

We call attention to advertisement of bark wanted, by A. H. Bauman. Mr. B. intends to erect a mill in Mapleton for the manufacture of Quercitron (ground black oak bark.) Such men as him should be in every town in our county, for their enterprise imparts itself to others, and thus a town is built up.

Our young friend W. P. Rudolph has hit the nail on the head by establishing a first-class restaurant in the center of the Diamond, next to Roman's clothing store, where he keeps oysters, ice cream, soda water, and other delicacies that make the mouth water. He invites the public to call.

The Newport News is the name of a new journal that shows signs of care and attention and gives promise of a life of usefulness. It has commenced to chat with its exchanges, although it is only twenty weeks old, which is almost as bad as the girl baby out west, three months old, that has learned to say, "Mamma, take me up."

Cleveland is proud of a citizen woman who has had seven husbands within eight years. One was killed in the army and another in a street fight. The other five survive, she having been divorced from four of them. Her daughter has been twice married and divorced, and is now ready to sunp up a third man before her seventeenth birthday comes around.

A man who has just subscribed for a Cambria county paper acknowledged to the editor that if he had been a regular subscriber to his paper he would have been saved two hundred dollars. So it is. There are items and advertisements published in the county paper which if heeded would prove the turning-point in many a man's career, and lead him on to fame and fortune. And yet this advice is only worth $2 a year, or 4 cents a week.

Our county can boast of a gentleman who went from Mapleton some years ago to Galena, where he became acquainted with Gen. Grant, and used to go gunning with him before the war. A few weeks ago he went to Washington, and was agreeably entertained by him. One day while walking the streets in that city with the General, a bystander remarked, "There's a man wants an office." The President hearing it, turned and coolly said to his old comrade: "Jake, what office would you like to have?" The bystander stood amazed.

Accidents.

On Saturday a week ago, a boy named Roush, residing in Petersburg, this county, cut a large portion of his right foot entirely off while chopping wood. The foot was amputated by Dr. Orlady.

Young Man Hurt.—A young named Thomas Clark, freight conductor on the Broad Top Railroad, while standing on the top of a box car that was being put on to a siding at Marklesburg, on Sunday last, was precipitated to the ground by the car suddenly stopping. His right leg was smashed below the knee, and two toes on his left foot were crushed, and he was injured internally. He was brought to his home in this place, where his wounds were dressed by Drs. Brumbaugh and Miller. Slight hopes are entertained of his recovory.

Child Drowned.—A little child of Mr. Anderson Bell, of Barree township, this county, aged 22 months, recently fell into a run near the house and was drowned.

Leg Broke.—Mr. Frank Garlock, the second, of this place, broke his leg one day last week by falling from a tree which he had been trimming. His leg was dressed by Dr. Miller.

Humbug.

Business men are too easily humbugged in the way of advertising. Some traveling genius will come along and announce, with a great flourish that he is going to publish a "directory," or something of that sort. Business men are importuned to advertise in it, at so much per page, half page, or a quarter. This they generally do, paying almost as much for the privilege as they would for the same space in the GLOBE for a year. The agent spends a week or so getting the names of leading citizens throughout the town, charges so much for each copy of his directory, prints a few hundred copies, and nobody ever looks into the book except the advertiser. It is a humbug, and a mighty poor way to advertise.

Improvements

We observe the following improvements at the Pennsylvania Railroad Station at this place.

Mr. D. Artley and Mr. Joseph Watson have built two rooms—one to be used for the car Inspectors, and the other as a storage room.

The Company is building a new baggage room, which is an improvement long been needed. The Company can congratulate itself upon the efficiency of its present Baggage Master, Mr. William DeArmitt, who is both clever and accommodating.

☞We have just received a very large invoice of Carpets, Oil Cloths and Mattings, and we have now over 80 different styles. We guarantee a SAVING of from $2 to $10, on every carpet purchased from us, and challenge a comparison of designs. This is no idle boast; we will make our words good. 2t FISHER & SONS.

Now is the time for business men of whatever pursuit, to make known their business, and extend an invitation to the public to call and see them, which may be done through the columns of your home newspaper, or by circulars. We are prepared to do either.

Busybodies.

An exchange says, no city, borough or village, no matter what its population, is free from a class of people who seem to take particular delight in prying into the domestic and private affairs of their neighbors, and we regret to say that our own town has a number of these meddlers and gossips. Every now and then we hear it said, "Ain't it a pity that Mr. and Mrs. So and So do not get along happily. Mrs. B. says that they are often at loggerheads," and "Is it not a pity for Mr. C. that he drinks?" "Mr. D. is too attentive to his wife and waits entirely too much on her. He is a hen-pecked husband and cannot do anything without asking her advice. Why, I declare, I saw him carrying a number of bundles for her, and she makes a perfect slave of him; don't you pity him?" "I saw Mrs. G. buy butter and other articles at market and pay the most exorbitant prices, she will break her husband up, without a doubt," and other remarks similar in character ad infinitum. Whose business is it but that of the parties interested if such should be the case?

Let a gentleman pay a visit to a young lady, and immediately it is rumored that Mr. —— is paying particular attention to her. If he escorts her to a concert, or to church several times, he is certainly engaged, and will soon be married. Then these wiseacres employ themselves, fixing the day for the marriage. If a gentleman or lady attends a public ball, opera or theatre, it is perfectly terrible to some persons, and disarranges their nerves, and so it is with the most trivial matters, which are magnified greatly by these would-be regulators of society. If all such individuals would attend exclusively to their own affairs, they would find sufficient employment without giving themselves any unnecessary uneasiness about matters which do not concern them, and about which every person should be allowed to exercise his or her own pleasure. They should remember the passage of Scripture which says: "Thou hypocrite, first cast out the beam out of thine own eye: and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brother's eye."

Read "our column for the people."

Success Makes Enemies.

The following, which we clip from an exchange, is so applicable in our case at present that we heartily endorse every word, knowing that what the writer says, is true in every particular: They who are eminently successful in business, or who achieve greatness, or even notoriety in any pursuit, must expect to make enemies. So prone to selfishness, to petty jealousy and sordid envy, is poor human nature, that whoever becomes distinguished is sure to be a mark for the malicious spite of those who, not deserving success themselves, are goaded by the merited triumph of the more worthy. Moreover, the opposition which originates in such despicable motives, is sure to be of the most unscrupulous character hesitating at no iniquity, descending to the shabbiest littleness.

Opposition, if it be honest and manly, is not of itself undesirable. The competitor in life's struggles who is of true metal, deprecates not opposition of an honorable character, but he rejoices in it. It is only injustice or meanness which he deprecates and despises; and it is this which the successful must meet, proportioned in bitterness, oft times, to the measure of success which excites it.

☞A highly intelligent lady, a resident of Syracuse, N. Y., says that she was afflicted nearly a year, periodically, with derangement of the circulation, the blood rushing to the lungs with such force as to threaten congestion and death. This was attended with the most intense pain in all parts of the body. Failing to obtain relief from any of the physicians whom she employed from time to time, she was induced to try the Plantation Bitters, and to her surprise and joy they have relieved her, and she is now in good health and flesh.

Ground Rents.

By a recent act of the Legislature of Pennsylvania, approved Feb. 26th, 1869, where no demand has been made for the payment of a ground rent or other charge upon land for twenty-one years, and no acknowledgment of the existence thereof has been made within that period by the tenant, a release or extinguishment of the claim shall be presumed, and the Court of Common Pleas, under proper proceedings and proof, may decree such extinguisment. The law also applies to parts of ground rents apportioned either by deed or by implication from the acts of the parties.

MARRIED,

On the 8th inst., 1869, by Rev. J. D. Thomas, Mr. P. S. ISENBERG, to Miss S. ELLEN WARFEL, all of this county.

DIED,

Mrs. NANCY LAMP, in Huntingdon, March 20th, 1869, aged 69 years.

For many years she has been an exemplary member of the M. E. Church. Religion with her was not a mere form or theory, but a divine reality which dwelt in her heart, governed her life, and enabled her to triumph in sickness and in death. She has left a large circle of children and friends who mourn her loss; but they sorrow not as others who have no hope," "knowing that there loss is her infinite gain."

Servant of God, well done!

SPECIAL NOTICES.

BEAR IN MIND,

That MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS is skilfully compounded, free from injurious component parts, agreeable to the taste and destructive to disease. If you detect any change from the natural functions of your system, no matter how trivial, or where located, or if disease has already entrenched itself, the really true and reliable remedy in either case is Mishler's Herb Bitters. This assertion is based upon what we know it will do in relieving, curing and warding off disease. For want of space we cannot detail the diversified uses of this Bitters, but its general effects upon the human system are to purify the blood and secretions; correct morbid changes in the blood, equalize its circulation, enrich its constituents and regulate its supply; it imparts vitality and elasticity to every organ; overcomes all functional derangements; assists in the process of digestion; creates a healthy appetite; prevents and cures miasmatic and intermittent fevers, dyspepsia, liver complaint, nervous headache, kidney affections, and revives the physical energies by infusing new life and power into the system. ap14om

ARE THE

Oldest Established of any in the World.
Over 50,000 Sold in 1868.

Three unequaled machines are adapted to every variety of sewing for family wear, from the lightest muslins to the heaviest cloths, and to the use of Seamstresses, Dress Makers, Tailors, Manufacturers of Shirts, Collars, Skirts, Cloaks, Mantillas, Clothing, Hats, Caps, Corsets, Ladies' Boots and Shoes, Linen Goods, etc. They work equally well upon silk, linen, woolen and cotton goods, with silk, cotton or linen thread. They will seam, quilt, hem, fell, cord, braid, bind, and perform every species of sewing, making a beautiful and perfect stitch, alike on both sides of the article sewed. Over 50,000 of those unrivalled machines were manufactured and SOLD during the year 1868. This is unprecedented in the history of sewing machines, and is another proof of the great popularity of the Howe Machine.

They have invariably won the highest honors at the great Exhibitions of the world, culminating at the late Exposition Universelle at Paris, where was awarded for THE HOWE MACHINE—the Imperial Prize; the Cross of the Legion of Honor; a Gold Medal, the highest prize within the gift of the Jury, being the result of its EVIDENT EXCELLENCE.

Our interest not being second to that of purchasers of machines, in their successful operation, we hold ourselves in readiness to render any necessary and practicable assistance, by correspondence or otherwise, for this purpose, and for faithfulness in this respect, reference is made to the tens of thousands now using these machius.

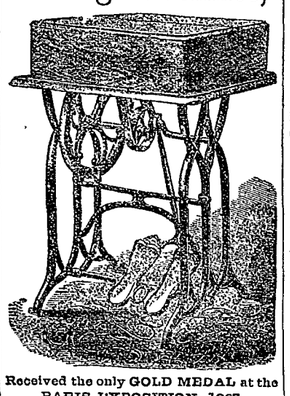
WHEELER & WILSON'S HIGHEST PREMIUM LOCK STITCH Sewing Machines,



Received the only GOLD MEDAL at the PARIS EXPOSITION, 1867.

They are adapted to all kinds of Family Sewing and to the use of Seamstresses, Dressmakers, Tailors, Manufacturers of Skirts, Collars, Skirts, Cloaks, Mantillas, Clothing, Hats, Caps, Corsets, Linen Goods, Umbrellas, Parasols, etc. They work equally well upon silk, linen, woolen and cotton goods, with silk, cotton or linen thread. They will seam, quilt, gather, hem, fell, cord, braid, bind, and perform every species of sewing, making a beautiful and perfect stitch, alike on both sides of the article sewed.

The qualities which recommend them are:

1. Beauty and excellence of stitch, alike on both sides of the fabric sewed.
2. Strength, firmness and durability of seam, that will not rip nor ravel.
3. Economy of Thread.
4. Attachments and wide range of application to purposes and materials.
5. Compactness and elegance of model and finish.
6. Simplicity and thoroughness of construction.
7. Speed, ease of operation and management, and quietness of movement.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in no wise injures any constitution. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.

McGUIRE'S

SPANISH HAIR DRESSER

FOR PROMOTING THE GROWTH, BEAUTIFYING THE HAIR.

And rendering it dark and glossy. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair. The use of this oil as a hair dresser has been universal in every section of the country in the Spanish Main for centuries. No preparation of art could give that elegant luxuriance and abundance of hair which have so often been the admiration of travelers in Spain. This oil is highly and delicately perfumed, forming an article unrivaled in excellence and upon which the Spanish people for many years have set its seal of enduring approval.

McGUIRE'S

Mexican Wild Flowers Shampoo Lotion

For removing dandruff and scurf from the head, whitening and perfuming the skin. This article is entirely different from anything of the kind ever offered in this country and is warranted free from all poisonous substances. This valuable lotion was used by the Emperor Maximilian, and Empress Carlotta of Mexico, and universally used by Mexicans for three hundred years. As a wash for the head—it is cooling, cleansing and refreshing.—When thus used it at once relieves headache.

McGUIRE'S

WILD FLOWERS FOR THE TEETH.

All those who are in favor of white teeth and a pleasant and perfumed breath should at once use McGuire's Wild Flowers for the Teeth. All these preparations are put up in the most elegant and ornamental manner. We make no exception in saying that they are an ornament to a lady's toilet table, and none complete without them.
